

Cutting Edge

The Cutting Edge is constructed from seamless tubing with a sharpened edge to enable undisturbed samples to be taken in the field. The cutting edge is plated for rust resistance and has a 6" interior diameter and is 2" high. Featured on the cutting edge is a recess in the upper section to allow mounting at either end of the mold. This helps facilitate sample removal in the field.

